City attorney urges county investigation

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

A county investigation into a possible conspiracy to "commit any unlawful act to avoid taxation" has been recommended in the case of a Romulus city councilman whose commercial building has not been entered on Romulus' tax rolls since construction was started on it in 1971.

Romulus City Attorney William S. Munger has urged Mayor Terry L. Troutt to call upon the Wayne County sheriff, the Wayne County prosecutor and the Wayne County assessor to determine whether Councilman James C. Stewart conspired to keep a record of his 60-foot by 40-foot welding shop out of city and county assessment files to avoid taxes on the structure.

Munger recommended to Troutt in a letter dated April 21 that the mayor request the investigation of the possible conspiracy to avoid possible political overtones in a council investigation of the matter. "Because of the delicate nature of this matter and the political division of the council, and the fact that Councilman Stewart is not known to join with the majority (of the council), such an investigation (by the council) would not be recommended at this time to avoid any possible inference of impropriety whatsoever," Munger wrote to Troutt.

The attorney likewise recommended against state involvement in the investigation since he said he needed further clarification of state laws covering a possible breach of the public's trust as a fiduciary by Stewart.

Troutt would not commit himself, to calling for an investigation when asked about the letter last week, however he said: "Whatever action has to be taken will have to be taken."

Troutt said he will discuss the attorney's recommendation with the City Council prior to taking any such action.

After learning of the attorney's recommendation, Stewart said: "I welcome an investigation because I haven't done anything wrong."

"But if the attorney makes the recommendation public, I'll do what I have to do."

"My attorney is prepared to take action on defamation of character and possible slander in this case, so Munger and Troutt had better be careful."

Romulus city records failed to show any assessment on Stewart's 60-foot by 40-foot welding shop valued at in excess of $15,000 since the initial building permit on the structure was taken out in 1971.

According to Troutt, Stewart should have been liable for property taxes on the structure from the time any work was started on it.

City records show that Stewart was assessed at a rate of $29.10 per lot for four lots on which the building sits last year, even though he received an occupancy permit for the building in 1973.

The city has been paying personal property tax on equipment used in the welding shop, since he operated the business in Romulus many years prior to constructing the shop.

According to Romulus City Assessor Harold Reiner, Stewart can be billed $450 in taxes for property and the building for 1974, and Reiner estimates $420 in taxes on the property and building from 1973.

In his letter, Munger recommended that Reiner attempt to collect taxes for the building from the time the occupancy permit was issued in 1973.

Stewart Monday said he would pay any taxes due on the structure.

It's clean-up time

A fourth grade student at Romulus' Harrison Elementary School, Bruce Nerowski, cleans windows during a free period as part of his "school pride" inspired by the Harrison Student Council. Pupils at the school at Harrison and Eureka roads in Romulus, have been policing the grounds, beautifying trash cans and cleaning up after themselves to show they are proud of the school and to help celebrate the nation's Bicentennial. — Photo by The Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Mayor may run again

The mayor of Romulus soon will announce his intention to seek a second consecutive term at the city's top administrative post.

The Romulus Roman has learned that Mayor Terry L. Troutt has informed close advisors and some city department heads that he will seek another 2-year term at the city's top post in a meeting held more than a month ago.

In making the announcement, Troutt also indicated that he will be working toward a city-wide road paving and drainage program by proposing a special millage to the voters of the community.

Troutt declined to discuss his political plans stating: "I'll make a decision within three weeks," but did indicate he is thinking of some form of city improvement program, possibly financed with a millage.

"I did meet with the department heads and told them that there is no sense in a man sitting in the top post of the city without proposing something to improve this city," Troutt said. "I'm thinking of a road paving and possibly a drainage program, but my financial advisors are working on the plan to finance the program at this time, so speculation of the cost has no foundation."

However, The Romulus Roman was informed that Troutt discussed a possible 2.5-mill city-wide road paving proposal during his meeting with the department heads.

"I have to say we're talking about more money for improvements," Troutt said. "But I think that to wait for times to get better before proposing a program to move this city forward is foolhardy, since so many before me have waited for the time to be right, and didn't accomplish anything."

"The proposal may go to the voters this year, whether its election year or not."

Romulus' primary election will be in September this year and the city-wide general election in November, offering Troutt at least two opportunities to place a millage question on the ballot.

Troutt was elected to the city's top administrative post in 1973, defeating Hyle J. Carmichael, the city's first mayor.

Troutt to back store proposal

The mayor of Romulus said he will publicly back a proposal by a Detroit development firm to build a shopping center on the city's only golf course.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt said that he will back a proposal for a shopping center to be known as Wickway Plaza and a senior citizen housing project on the Shady Hollow Golf Course if developers of the project post a $15,000 performance bond to insure they will work on the project near Wayne and Wick roads.

"While I'm tired of the 'big shooters' who come in here with a promise and nothing else, I'm willing to back this proposal, if the bond is posted," Troutt said. "I promised to get a shopping center in this community during my term as mayor, and I intend to work toward that end."

A group of investors, including Romulus developer Ronald Makino, have proposed to build a 130,000-square foot shopping plaza on 30 acres of the 106-acre golf course, and a senior citizen high rise on 20 acres of the golf course providing they receive a rezoning from the golf course's single family home designation.

Troutt said he anticipated some opposition to the proposal, since the land is the only golf course in the city.

Romulus City Councilman James C. Stewart has made public his opposition to the proposal.

"I'm no golfer," he said. "But it's a shame that the city's only golf course would be used for this, especially since 78 percent of the city is undeveloped and growing in weeds.

"I'm not impressed with the bond proposal, since it takes only $150 to buy a $15,000 bond and only a few thousand more to draw up prints for a rezoning."

Students at Harrison Elementary School in southeastern Romulus are displaying an interest in their school.

As part of its Bicentennial project, the Harrison Elementary School Student Council has embarked on a trash can beautification campaign with cans being painted on the Bicentennial motif.

"The students wanted to keep the school clean and to celebrate their nation's 200th anniversary," said Joan Olszewski, moderator of the Student Council. "They selected this project to go along with other beautification projects, and have received excellent cooperation."

To date, all the trash cans used by the school's maintenance staff have been painted in a "1776-1976" red-white-and-blue Bicentennial motif. In addition, student volunteers have been busy policing the school grounds to remove trash paper and have been washing windows to give their fellow students a better view of the more-beautiful school ground.

"This is our first year, and we wanted to keep the school clean," said fifth-grader Marianne Johnson, president of the Student Council. "We think this is a good thing for the school."

Karl Karl Kassel, another fifth-grader and vice-president of the council added: "We celebrate this because it's our country's birthday and we're proud of it."

"We do things to help the school. Because we're proud of it too."

In addition to the clean-up campaign, the Student Council has sponsored in-school activities "so the kids don't just go out on the playground and fight," in Kassel's words.

The student body has been asked to participate in a "50s day" and has enjoyed a science fair conducted by students at the school.

In addition, students participated in a "school flag" contest to design a flag which will fly over the school until the student body's nick-name "dragons" is changed.

Mrs. Olszewski said the Student Council plan incorporated this year is designed to serve as another aspect of the Romulus School District's "career education" program.

"While it isn't part of the traditional curriculum, the Student Council activity serves as a means for the students to learn civics and politics," Mrs. Olszewski said. "Hopefully when these students get older, they'll be more willing to participate in their community because they have participated in the school community through the Student Council."

Proud of their school

FUND RAISERS—As a part of fund raising efforts to send fifth graders to camp, Rawsonville Elementary School students participated in a student project sale, held with a flea market. Most of the classrooms participated by making craft items. All materials for the projects were donated by teachers, parents and students, so that all money from the sale could go directly to the camping program. The results were rewarding not only from the monetary standpoint, but from the spirit of togetherness which was experienced. Above, Mrs. William Dapprich and Judy Kniffen, a second grade teacher, discuss results of the sale, and count up the proceeds.

WCRC seeks approval to spend federal $$$

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) will be making a motion to the Federal District Court in Detroit to receive permission to spend $2.5 million in federal funds to pay contractors for work done on the expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

Attorneys for the Road Commission and Romulus City Attorney William Munger argued before Judge Cornelia J. Kennedy over the WCRC's right to spend the money after the judge had prohibited the county road agency from spending any federal funds on expanding the airport last month.

WCRC attorneys argued that the money is not being used to continue the project, but to pay for work already done on building a 12,000-foot runway which raised city officials and residents ire when proposed three years ago. Munger agreed with a proposal from Judge Kennedy to have a proposal for the use of the money entered into the court record to determine whether the funds will be used for construction.

"It's a procedural matter," Munger said last week. "The city has not agreed to allow the Road Commission to spend the funds, but has agreed to listen to the plan the commission has for the money before making a decision."

"Part of their contention is that complete abandonment of the project would do great harm, but the city has made no comment in the court on the argument."

The session before the District Court was called at the request of Road Commission attorneys who contacted Munger two weeks ago.

Munger consulted with Gerald Fadem, the California attorney who handled the city's case against airport expansion and received a favorable ruling, prior to agreeing to a session.

"The attorney from California indicated that I should go to the court, to hear, the commission's arguments," Munger said.

"But he will be available to handle any pleadings in the case."

No date had been set for the outline of the commission proposal, but Fadem has indicated he will be available next week to handle court arguments, should the need arise.

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said he would urge the attorney to argue against allowing the commission to handle any federal funds in airport plans, whether the construction is completed or not.

"I know what they're doing," he said. "The more money that gets into the project, the harder it would be to stop."

"I'm not against the airport. It's there and can't be moved."

"But I'm upset over the way the airport construction proceeded without regard to the people, and want to win some justice."

Troutt indicated there may be some room for discussion on the WCRC's request if the commission were to sit down with city attorneys to discuss the alleged $8.5 million in losses of water and sewer equipment and taxes claimed by Troutt.

Munger indicated there is a possibility that the road commission request could be turned down, even though contractors have completed the work and are requesting $2.5 million in payments.

"When the case was brought before the court originally, the WCRC was told: 'Proceed at your own risk by the court,'" he said. "I consider that warning that if the case went against the Road Commission, it could get stuck with some work it couldn't pay for."

The WCRC was prohibited from continuing work on a $33 million northeast-southwest runway in the airport until it filed an environmental impact statement required by federal law before federal funds for the project could be appropriated by an order from Judge Kennedy handed down last month. Nearly half of the project's cost is made up of federal funds.

BELLEVILLE — Officials of Van Buren Township will begin machinery moving on a special assessment plan to provide weekly rubbish pickup in the township's only large subdivision. Hearings are scheduled for next week to determine public opinion on a $5 per year assessment to pick up rubbish on a weekly basis in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision near Haggerty Road and I-94.

Airport meet set

BELLEVILLE — Van Buren Township officials will meet tomorrow with council members and members of the Board of Trustees in Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township to discuss the possibility of forming an airport commission to operate Willow Run Airport in Van Buren. The commission will have no taxing power, but will have the right to oversee operations of the airport under the plan.

Help Line for elderly open

Area senior citizens who may be in need of a kind word or a sympathetic ear now have a friend no farther away than the telephone.

The Senior Citizen's Help Line has been established for the Belleville, Romulus, Huron Township, Van Buren Township and Sumpter area to provide paraprofessional help to older citizens.

Volunteers in the program will be able to answer questions about Medicare, Medicaid, social security, supplemental income, food stamps and property tax relief as well as offer advice on how to cope with special problems affecting senior citizens.

The phone number for the help line is 699-6666 and is open from noon to midnight Monday through Thursday, from noon to 2 a.m. Friday, and from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

"This number currently is in operation and is set-up to give information and referral services for senior citizens," said Kathleen Calvillo, executive director of The Number, the area's telephone crisis intervention service.

In addition to providing the phone service, volunteers from the help line are hoping to initiate a program of calling area senior citizens to provide a daily check on the health and welfare of isolated residents of the area.

People who know of senior citizens who would appreciate the phone calling service should submit the names to the help line at 699-6666.

While establishing the program, The Number also is asking for help either financially or with supplies to continue the service.

Persons wishing to offer financial help or supplies, or who may be interested in volunteering to work on the Senior Citizens Help Line should either call the special senior citizen number or write to P.O. Box 9, Belleville, 48111 for information.

Pupils are over age 58

Commencement exercises for some area students will begin early this year. Part of the reason is those students are special.

Not one is younger than 58.

The students are graduates of an unique high school program administered by the Huron School District for students in Wayne and Monroe counties, including those in Huron Township, Belleville, Van Buren Township and Sumpter Township.

And only senior citizens or the spouses of seniors are eligible.

"The program is designed to offer senior citizens from the area an opportunity to graduate from high school," said Martha Krieger, program coordinator. "It offers people a constructive use of their free time, and is being used widely."

According to Joanne Elliott, secretary to the coordinator, more than 3,000 persons from areas between Monroe and Belleville, are registered in courses which cover a myriad of topics ranging from the "traditional" reading, writing and arithmetic to some less academic, though important subjects for seniors, such as coping with visual handicaps and ceramics.

Instruction is an on-going thing at the First United Methodist Church in Belleville, the old New Boston School on Huron River Drive north of Flannan Road in Huron Township and the fire hall on Mineral Springs Road.

Kaunda should give up doomsday predictions

President Kenneth D. Kaunda of Zambia, unfortunately, has come up with a classic example of how loose talk about delicate diplomatic problems can worsen the prospects for maintaining peace.

Panax Newspapers believe that in a world already burdened with enough suffering, Kaunda would do his country and all African peoples a favor if he gave up making doomsday predictions of a possible blood bath in South Africa. Such grim prophecies sometimes can be self-fulfilling.

During a recent visit to Washington, Kaunda startled guests at a White House dinner in his honor by stating that, while peaceful solutions to racial and political problems were to be preferred, there was a strong possibility that violence would take the place of negotiations in his part of the world.

"Southern Africa is poised for a dangerous armed conflict," he said. "Peace is at stake."

In the presence of President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Kaunda urged the U.S. government to place itself "in the vanguard" of African nationalist forces which seek to end apartheid (racial separation) in the Republic of South Africa, and to achieve majority black rule in Rhodesia and South-west Africa (Namibia), a vast territory which has been administered by the South African government since World War I.

Declaring that Black Africa would not compromise on these issues, Kaunda said: "We are not fighting whites, we are fighting an evil and brutal system."

Clearly, his overblown rhetoric does not match the facts. Like all regimes everywhere, the South African and Rhodesian governments can be criticized on some policy aspects. However, at least so far as white people are concerned, these countries have true Republican-type governments with competing political parties.

By contrast in all of black Africa only Botswana has a government which, actually follows the Democratic forms that prevail in advanced western nations. All the rest are ruled by military dictators, political "strong men," committees of army officers and even a few hereditary chieftains.

Many of these autocratic black governments have ties with the Soviet Union, Communist China or both. Often their central policy calls for nationalization of private property, something bound to disturb the whites and Asians living within their borders.

Kaunda's remarks, particularly in the context of a White House dinner, were an annoyance and a breach of protocol which holds that the two leaders on such an occasion should busy themselves complimenting each other.

Publicly, the U.S. government played it cool so far as Kaunda's speech was concerned. Nathaniel P. Davis, recently named assistant secretary of state for African affairs, commented: "What I'll say is it struck me that he was speaking from his conviction and as a friend."

It is to be hoped that Kaunda realizes he can play an important role in African affairs if he does not let his emotions get the better of him.

Recently there have been harbingers of reform and racial detente in the southern part of the African Continent due in large part to careful initiatives and contacts made by Kaunda and Prime Minister John Vorster of the Republic of South Africa.

Africans of all races will suffer if Kaunda turns his back on that approach now.

When it comes to strike

Legislature forgets parents, students

BY WES THORP
Panax Lansing Bureau

The Democratic leaders of the Legislature forgot someone in their second attempt to find a solution to teacher strikes.

They forgot the parents when they told the lobbyists for teachers and school board members to find a solution to teacher strikes which have been plaguing Michigan.

As a result, the lobbyists for the two sides have developed a proposal which is acceptable to them, but may not be to the third part of the teacher strike issue — parents of students in public schools and property taxpayers.

It has been this third group — parents and taxpayers — which has been pushing the Legislature to find a solution to teacher strikes which have kept many schools closed several weeks beyond their normal starting time and which have closed school doors months after the school year started.

This group has put itself firmly on record about teacher strikes. It doesn't want them, whether they last only a couple of weeks or a couple of months.

Such sentiment has been expressed to legislators through hundreds of letters, telephone calls and personal visits from frustrated parents who are tired of having their schedules disrupted by teacher work stoppages.

They look after their own interests and concerns...

To find a solution to this problem, House Speaker Bobby D. Crim and Senate Majority Leader William B. Fitzgerald told the lobbyists for teachers and school boards to lock themselves into a motel room and not come out until they reach agreement on how to avoid the collective bargaining difficulties which they experience every year.

Crim and Fitzgerald, however, closed the meeting to everyone else, including the press.

When the two sides emerged from their around-the-clock negotiations, they presented a plan which would legalize what has been practiced during the past few years.

Teachers would be allowed to strike. School boards could ask the courts to stop the teachers from striking and the courts could tell the two sides what to do, stop striking and start negotiating, sul. Their differences to compulsory binding arbitration, or any other action which the judge thinks necessary.

And whatever the court tells the teachers, there would be nothing to enforce the order of the court. The teachers could ignore a back-to-work order as they have in past contract disputes in Garden City and Dearborn's Crestwood.

If the proposed compromise does make its way through the Legislature and past the governor's desk, it would mean a replay this fall of the past uncertainty about when children would go to school.

It would depend on when the teachers and local school boards are able to settle their differences. It could be the usual first Monday after Labor Day, the middle of September, sometime in October.

When the kids do get in school, there would be no guarantee that teachers wouldn't walk out of work and close school doors in December, or any other time of the year.

With more teacher strikes this fall, there will be more problems, more bad feelings between teachers and parents and more chance that the Legislature will over-react.

Crim, a veteran of State House political maneuverings, and Fitzgerald, who still is cutting his legislative teeth, should have expected as much when special interest groups develop a legislative proposal.

They look after their own interests and concerns.

Handgun column upsets resident

To the editor: In a recent column by Bob Berg (Panax Lansing Bureau) concerning handguns, mandatory sentencing was mentioned as an alternative to registration or confiscation.

Anyone with an ounce of sense knows that the government cannot under any circumstances confiscate fire arms.

Also the idea that registration has some merit really is ridiculous. Michigan has had registration of handguns for decades.

The availability of firearms really has no significance where crime is concerned. In fact, states with tough gun laws have some what higher crime rates.

Those who advocate gun control are using it as a delusion to prevent people from seeing the racial problems facing us. The idea is to sweep the racial nature of violent crime under the rug. How naive do these uninformed think we are.

CRIME

You can clear up mess

By STAN OPOTOWSKY,
Panax Special Columnist

The Nixon administration went into office promising to reduce our crime rate and put the crooks in jail.

Well, you've got to admit the crooks did go to jail, straight from the White House. But only certain crooks. The muggers and rapists and burglars continue to flourish and the streets of America get more dangerous.

The usual cry is to beef up the police force, to pour more money into law enforcement. And we have been doing exactly that. The federal government has, in less than 10 years, put more than $4 billion into police departments.

The money has not been spent well. In some cases it went for foolish equipment such as tanks and armored cars. In worse cases it went to educational programs which seemed to finance the college tours of politicians' sons.

The basic truth is that more money for police doesn't cut down crime. More police don't cut down crime. Even more arrests don't cut down crime, simply because the courts and the prisons can't handle the extra load and so release the culprits to do their dirty deeds again.

More efficient police departments rather than richer police departments.

Does that mean we must give up? And flee the cities for the suburbs?

The crime, statistics show, just follows the exodus.

Does that mean we must give up? A small percentage of any police force is on patrol on any given night. The remainder are on anything from clerical duty and phone answering to chauffeuring mayors and governors.

As said before, more arrests may not solve the problem, but more police on the streets could serve as a deterrent in part. They will scare the muggers at least as far as the back alleys.

Of course, most crime doesn't occur on the streets anyway. Most crime occurs out of the sight line of the patrol car, whether there is one patrol or 10 on any given thoroughfare.

The situation figures to get worse in the coming months.

The best hope, if there is a hope, is citizen cooperation. For all their high-priced gear and detective-story aura, the police know that their best weapon is a phone tip from a concerned citizen. And for all the headlines about discoveries of big burglary caches, the best way to block burglaries is to refuse to buy stolen goods.

Panax posts firm earnings

Panax Corp., Michigan based newspaper publishing and printing firm, has posted its first quarter sales and earnings figures.

A net loss was reported of $46,972, or $0.4 per share for the first quarter of 1975, compared to a loss of $60,124, or $0.5 per share in the same period in 1974.

Net revenues were $5,811,620 in the first quarter of 1975, compared to $6,383,437 during the same period last year.

Commenting on the first quarter results, Panax President John P. McGoff said: "The 9 percent decline in net revenue is due primarily to the suspension of operation of one of our commercial printing divisions in mid-1974. Our operating divisions have continued their strong performance through the first quarter of this year, showing improvement over the same period last year, despite the worst recession in 30 years. We continue to be optimistic over the prospects for 1975."

During the first quarter of 1975, 65 percent of Panax' revenues came from the operation of its eight daily and 28 weekly newspapers. Commercial printing and typesetting operations contributed 26 percent of net revenues. The remaining revenue was produced primarily through its printing machinery sales division.

The Board of Directors of Panax Corp. also has decided that no dividend will be paid for the quarter, ending March 31.

Panax publishes The Daily Eagle and its affiliated newspapers, The Romulus Roman, The Belleville Enterprise and The Canton Eagle.

Work bids sought

Bids will be taken on the construction of two ramps from Haggerty Road to I-94 this month.

According to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak D-38th District) the Michigan State Highway Department will take bids on a proposed $670,000 project to improve access to the freeway from Haggerty Road.

Completion of the project is expected sometime in November.

The work will consist of building the ramps along the south side of I-94 and water main relocation in conjunction with the widening work now underway in the area.

Jaycee Auxiliary trio earns state accolades

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Three members of the Romulus Jaycee Auxiliary have been singled out as outstanding participants of their organization. Accolades on the state level have been given to Lois Van Stipdonk, Dorothy

Clark and Libby McNett. Mrs. Van Stipdonk, the current president, has been honored by the State Jaycee Organization as one of its outstanding presidents. Of the 187 local chapters in the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary, she was chosen as one of the top three in her class. The winner will be announced May 10 at the state convention in Lansing.

The wife of John Van Stipdonk and the mother of three sons, the honoree's past achievements include the Key Woman Award for 1973-74; Presidential Award of Honor and Outstanding Spokette on the local, district and state levels. She was chairman of the "Guides for Artrain" which won the Outstanding Project Award on the district level as did the Christmas window decorating project for Romulus businesses which she co-chaired.

Dorothy Clark, whose husband Terry is director of the Romulus Jaycees, was nominated as one of 12 "outstanding spokettes" of the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary.

Every year a member of each auxiliary who has earned her "spoke" is chosen as outstanding by her club. She then submits a questionnaire which is sent in for district and state competition. Mrs. Clark will vie with other nominees from the 187 auxiliaries which comprise the Michigan district. She will be interviewed Friday at the state convention when five outstanding spokettes will be chosen. Winners will be announced Saturday at the awards luncheon.

Mrs. Clark qualified for the nomination in a number of ways. She proposed and outlined a new project, the sale of bubble bath, to earn money for the club; attended most general membership and board meetings; was chairman for the auxiliary's part in the Jaycees Junior Miss Pageant and also the "Punt, Pass and Kick" contest and the "Millionaire's Party."

She was co-chairman of the pap smear clinic sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and worked on Trikes for Headstart. Here comes Peter Rabbit and the Beautification of Romulus committees. She also was corresponding secretary for her unit in 1974, her first year as a member.

The mother of three children, aged 3 months to 7 years, Mrs. Clark's outside interests include a ladies softball league and bowling team and the PTA.

At the auxiliary's April meeting she was chosen vice-president of her club and currently is chairman of the awards banquet scheduled for May 19.

The final member of the honored trio, Libby McNett, has been selected as one of the 11 semi-finalists for the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary's Outstanding Jaycette Award. The honor is given to an auxiliary member who has participated in all phases of her club's activities with enthusiasm and interest in serving others.

She will be among those personally interviewed Friday at Olds Plaza in Lansing. She will be vying with 134 other nominees for the distinction of being among the five outstanding Jaycettes in Michigan.

Another busy person, Mrs. McNett joined the Romulus group in 1972 and has held the offices of director, corresponding secretary, treasurer, vice-president and currently is president-elect.

She was outstanding sparkette in 1974 and earned the title again this year.

She and her husband, Phil, equally are involved in Jaycee activities since he now is president of the men's group. They have three children who range in age from 2 to 8 years who also keep them involved in the PTA at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School.

Mrs. McNett was responsible for the auxiliary receiving the community service award on the district level in March due to her garden contest, tallying the fourth year the club has received the accolade.

Spokesmen for the auxiliary emphasize the fact that it is a unique situation for one local unit to be singled out with more than one nomination, let alone three, in the same year.

And now — it's on to Lansing for the threesome.

The Martin and Lewis story is told

Just about everyone knows that Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were once the silver screen's favorite comedy teams. And you don't have to be over 40 to remember since re-runs of their movies have been seen by all age groups for more years than one cares to recall.

There also have been rumors and speculation as to why the top notch laugh getters finally went their separate ways, building careers as singles. In his book, recently released, Arthur Marx tells the story of the break up and includes a number of photographs as well.

The book is located on the non-fiction shelves of the Belleville Public Library located at 167 Fourth Street, Belleville.

BELLEVILLE LIBRARY NON-FICTION

"Everybody Loves Somebody Sometime (Especially Himself)" by Arthur Marx. The story of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

"The Old Fashioned Homemade Ice Cream Cookbook" by Joyce Dueker. All about ices and ice cream for the lovers of America's favorite dessert.

FICTION

"The Sleepwalker" by Helen McCloy. A series of strange incidents disrupts the life of a young woman who does not realize that she is being watched by the Mafia and the Police.

"I Came to the Highlands" by Velda Johnston. Elizabeth returns with her dying father to his birthplace in the Highlands, where she becomes caught up in the Stuart Cause.

"The Sacred and Profane Love Machine" by Iris Murdoch. A writer, mourning the death of his wife, observes the complex life stories of the family next door.

"Harlequin" by Morris West. A group of men plan the violent take over of a highly reputable family-owned Swiss bank.

"A Deadly Shade of Gold" by John MacDonald. Travis McGee hunts for the murderer of an old friend.

"Stranger at the Gates" by Evelyn Anthony. A stranger forces the American born Countess de Bernard to reconsider her past actions during the precarious days of the Nazi occupations.

"Summer Romance" by Joanne Aldrich. Janie's "perfect" summer is spoiled by her mixed feelings for her fiancé and the arrival of an agent to investigate a fire insurance fraud.

"Add Years to Your Life and Life to Your Years" by Irene Gore. An illustrated book on aging and longevity. "The Homesteaders Handbook to Raising Small Livestock" by Jerome Belanger. About livestock and poultry in illustrated form.

"Danger for the Baron" by John Creasey. Reformed jewel thief takes on a job that results in murder.

"Frankenstein Unbound" by Brian Aldiss. Gothic science fiction.

"Bandit's Trail" by Will Cook. An invitation to a train robbery is the beginning of a chase which leads Texas Rangers Burkhauser and Mc Clintock and a railroad investigator, Will Beech, to Mexico and a battle with an infamous band of bandits.

"A Long Way from Home" by William Murray. John Farrige returns to Ireland after his father's death, supposedly the successful son returning home, but actually the focus for old hates and the blame for his father's death.

"The Inside Man" by George Coxe. Jack Dunbar, private investigator, and Dave Barry, lawyer, are hired to recover the ransom from a skyjacker who bailed out somewhere off the coast of British Honduras.

"In the Coral Reefs of the Caribbean, Bahamas, Florida, Bermuda" by Hans Hannau. One hundred color photographs and text cover the life, archeology and ecology under the West Indian Sea. Includes short essays by scientists about their specialties.

"Emergency" by Wilfred Heinz. A documentary novel about doctors, nurses and patients as they meet and struggle against disease and death in the emergency room of a big-city hospital.

"Our Jo, or the Chronicle of a Coming Man" by Kenneth Cameron. A bawdy romp through Restoration England.

"Images of Rose" by Anna Gilbert. The arrival of Cousin Rose greatly affects the lives of the two Westerdale girls left in her care during their father's absence at sea.

"Celestial Navigation" by Anne Tyler. Jeremy Pauling, a near recluse who runs a boarding house, makes a try at breaking through the barriers that keep him out of contact with other people.

"Open Season: a Novel" by David Osborn. Three businessmen use their annual hunting trip to torture and murder two people until the last time, when someone begins to hunt them.

"One Sunny Day" by Joan Alexander. A psychopath decides to fulfill his violent fantasies on the 10th anniversary of his father's death.

Hospital to continue DMIC-PRESCAD plan

Western Wayne County residents still may take advantage of the complete maternity and infant care services offered by the Wayne County Department of Health and Henry Ford Hospital.

The clinic is located at the former Crittenton Hospital on Woodward Wilson on Detroit's northwest side.

Services available through the clinic, which is one of several similar ones operated by the county Health Department under the heading of Detroit Maternal and Infant Care (DMIC) and Preschool, School and Adolescent Services (PRESCAD), include pre-natal and post-natal care to mothers and infants, arrangements for hospitalization and birth delivery at Ford Hospital, medical care for infants during the first year of life and for mothers during the same period after giving birth and family planning.

Such additional services as social work and nutrition counseling, public health nursing in the home, and a day-care nursery for children whose mothers are being seen in the clinic are offered. Dental services will continue to be available at the clinic.

Patient costs which cannot be met through private or insurance sources are paid for by public expense funds.

Baptismal rite held at Methodist Church

A baptismal service was held recently at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville with eight children receiving the sacrament. The Rev. Joy

Arthur presided at the rite. Those christened were Kristin Lea Curtis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Curtis; William Marion Hall Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hall Sr.; Jessica Leigh Mydlarz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mydlarz; Shannon Sparks, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sparks; Tracey Ann Stauffer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer; Jerry Glen MacDermid, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John MacDermid; Jill Diann Mlsna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mlsna; and Alisa Ann Ray, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Ray.

Getting married? Tell us about it

Want to share that 'special day' with those who are unable to be present, in person, for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the 'start of it all.'

Forms may be picked up at our office, 405 Main Street, (we're in the old Township Hall now) anytime during the week or will be mailed out if a telephone request is made. Call the Women's Editor at 697-9191.

March of 1976 set for vows

The engagement of her daughter, Janice Marie Putansu, to Peter W. Mueller is announced by Mrs. Garold Hammond of 45697 Ecorse Road, Belleville.

The couple plan to be married March 6, 1976 at Our Lady of Grace Church in Dearborn Heights.

The bride-elect, a 1974 graduate of Belleville High School, currently is attending R.E.T.S. Electronics School in Detroit where her fiancé also is a student.

The prospective bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mueller of 8221 Wormer, Dearborn Heights, graduated from Riverside High School in that city. He is employed as a laboratory technician at R.E.T.S.

MR. AND MRS. GLENN B. FEIGHT

Golden years reception set for G. Feights

A reception honoring the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn B. Feight will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. May 17 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The golden year celebration is being hosted by the couple's three sons, their wives and children; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Feight, Gregory and Kimberley of Milan, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Feight, Kurt and Sherrie of Mt. Pleasant and David Feight of Jackson and Kip and Sandra Jo of Mt. Pleasant.

Out-of-state guests are expected from California, Arizona, Iowa, Florida and Ohio.

The Feights, former residents of Belleville, who now reside in Mt. Pleasant, Mich. and Zephyrhills, Fla., were married April 12, 1925 in Dundee, Mich., and made their home on Huron River Drive in Belleville until August, 1970.

Mrs. Feight is the former Olive J. Dickerson, the daughter of Jay and Louie Freeman Dickerson of Willis. Her husband's parents were Edward and Blanche Bennett Feight of Chariton, Iowa.

A life member of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order of the Eastern Star (OES), Mrs. Feight is a former Girl Scout leader and member of the MOMS Club of Belleville.

Mr. Feight, a life member of Myrtle Lodge No. 88, Fraternal Order of Masons, Belleville Chapter, is affiliated with the same OES chapter as his wife. Both are members of the Methodist Church. Since his retirement from General Motors in 1967, the couple have divided their time between their Michigan and Florida homes.

Services held for Jack Harris

A former Sumpter businessman, Nathan L. (Jack) Harris, who had resided in Florida for the past six years, has died following a lengthy illness.

A native of Mount Washington, Ky., Mr. Harris resided at 227 SE Stebbins Terrace, Port Charlotte, Fla. He died April 20.

He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth (Bessie) Harris, of Port Charlotte; two sons, Robert Harris of Flushing, Mich., and Jack Harris of Belleville; and one brother, Charles Harris of Belleville. Funeral services were held April 22 at Kays Port Charlotte Chapel with The Rev. Keith Ewing of Cleveland United Methodist Church presiding. Memorial services by Flotilla No. 98 Auxiliary were held at sea April 24.

Commander Hal Crispi of the auxiliary placed a wreath on the waters of Charlotte Harbor after the ashes of Mr. Harris were consigned to the waters. Chaplain Benson Sloan conducted the services while some 15 boats from the auxiliary formed an honor guard.

Memorials may be made to the Cleveland United Methodist Church building fund in care of Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Wolfe wins audition with Ceccato

Belleville resident Kathleen Wolff of 45166 Harmony Lane, has won an audition with Aldo Ceccato, director of the Detroit Symphony, for a soloist spot in the upcoming Cranbrook Music Festival May 9.

Mrs. Wolff is a professional singer and vocal teacher.

Business machines topic at NAA meet

The April meeting of the National Association of Accounts (NAA), Western Wayne Chapter, was held at Warren Valley Golf Club in Dearborn Heights.

The topic for the evening was "Business Machines Effects on Accounting." William Thomas, Larry Franklin, James Cibula and Phillip Kurtz, representatives of various companies, exhibited the newest additions to their business machine lines.

They stressed that the accountant of today must be more than a "pencil pusher." He must be able to process information with efficiency and accuracy. It was for these reasons a panel discussion of business machine specialists was assembled.

Weight Watchers will hear Florine Mark

Weight Watchers will hold an open meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Trinity Episcopal Church, located at the corner of Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Florine Mark, president of Weight Watchers in Central and Eastern Michigan, Windsor and Mexico. Married and the mother of five children, she lost 40 pounds and has maintained her loss for nine years.

The local lecturer, Martha Stavros, invites interested parties to attend the meeting and learn what Weight Watchers is all about. There is no obligation involved.

Girl Scouts learn first aid at demo

Girl Scout Troop No. 369 of Edgemont School recently was given a first aid demonstration by Eagle Scout Randy McNally of Troop No. 793. He was assisted by Second Class Scout Mike Chen and Star Scout Jeff Clark of Troop No. 231.

The trio instructed the girls on what to do in the event of broken bones, burns and cuts and also showed the resuscitation procedure.

The girls later divided into groups and with their instructors, practiced the various methods of first aid. The troop recently spent a weekend camping out at Burns Frontier Camps near Sugar Loaf Lake. While there they hiked 8 and one-fifth miles in 8 hours and practiced building fires from materials found around the camp.

Warners observe silver wedding

Relatives and friends gathered at the Westland home of Lawrence and Irene Warner recently to help celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. The party was planned by their daughter, Debbie, who welcomed some 35 guests including her grandmother, Juanita Akers of Belleville.

A buffet supper and three tier wedding cake made by a nephew, Mark Berry, were served during the evening.

Mrs. Warner, the former Irene Akers, and her husband were united in marriage April 22, 1950 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

Quotes worth quoting--

"My idea is this: ever onward. If God had intended that man should go backward, He would have given him an eye in the back of his head. Let us look always toward the dawn, the blossom-time, the hour of new birth."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Member By Invitation ONSM National Selected Morticians

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. - DIRECTORS

What one person deserves to be held in more esteem than any other? Most people will readily reply: "Mother." Without hesitation.

The home is the foundation of moral and spiritual strength and mother is the central character in the structure. It is where character is formed, habits adopted, attitudes are born. For most people, mother had the greatest influence. Instinctively she is and always has been best equipped to create light in dark moments of despair. Her love, devotion and dedication are really unexplainable. Her endless unselfishness is unexplainable. When people condemn, for whatever reason, her belief and steadfast refusal to disbelieve are unexplainable. Her attitude and actions in her self designated responsibilities and obligations are likewise unexplainable.

A mother is truly a mystery of creation, beyond the price of costly pearls. We think of these things on Mother's Day as we honor her on her day. Happy Mother's Day to all mothers everywhere.

Belleville High ready for debut of "Molly"

"Keep rowing or I'll throw you overboard all."

Pretty strong words, especially for a lady. But then she was a special lady, Molly Tobin, who will come alive again on the Belleville High School stage when students present "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" tomorrow through Saturday and May 16-17.

Fifteen faculty members and 150 students have been busy preparing for the traditional musical production since mid-March and hope to convey the determination of Molly to their audience.

Molly, a penniless youngster who grew up to marry "Leadville" Johnny Brown, became the toast of French nobility, much to the amazement of members of the Denver society who mocked her as being uncivilized. But she earned her name of unsinkable when she captained a lifeboat after the sinking of the Titanic. Starring as Molly Brown

School offers play

Tickets still are available for the Romulus High School Vocal Music Club production of "Where's Charley" scheduled for this weekend.

Centered in the Gay '90s, the play deals with a comedy love affair and features hit songs such as "Once in Love with Amy."

The musical is based upon the play "Charley's Aunt" written by Brandon Thomas and was taken from a book written by George Abbot.

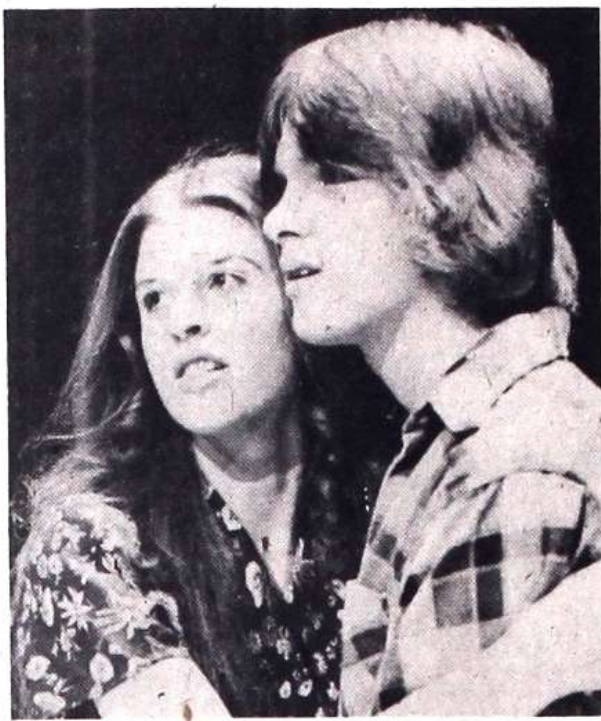

The original musical score was done by Frank Loesser.

Tickets are $1 per person for performances scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday and at 1 p.m. Saturday.

will be senior Linda Schweigerte. "Leadville" Johnny Brown will be played by Stan King, a sophomore at Belleville High. The pillar of Denver society, Mrs. McGlone, will be played by Gayle Simons with Tom Laine and Debbie Smith as the prince and princess.

Once again, Louise Pitcher will be directing the show, assisted by Karen Sinkus with technical direction by Glenn Curtis.

Tickets for all five of the 8 p.m. performances are on sale at the auditorium box office between 2:30 - 5 p.m. and will be available at the door. All tickets are $2.

SAVE ME — As if clutching to "Leadville" Johnny Brown (Stan King) Molly Brown (Linda Schweigerte) clutches her stage husband in a scene from the Belleville High School's annual musical production. This year the school is staging "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" this weekend and next. The play will be performed at 8 p.m. tomorrow through Saturday and May 16-17.

Spring: Fancies turn to gardening

Spring is the time when a gardener's fancy turns to thoughts of lovely plants. While impatiently waiting for the ground to become workable, gardeners are poring over seed catalogues and thinking about what to plant where. And this year, more and more Americans are giving thought to raising a garden that will be utilitarian as well as ornamental.

Considering the battered food budget, it's not surprising that so many gardeners are eager to try their green thumbs at growing vegetables. And, of course, a garden can be both pretty and practical. One book puts it this way: "In the language of gardening, the word 'ornamental' is used to distinguish plants used for beauty in the landscape from plants used for food and fiber. But many plants serve a dual purpose. And so you have edible ornamentals and ornamental edibles."

To illustrate, the book suggests planting a bed of curly kale alongside a bed of ferns, rhubarb chard combined with white Sweet William and a groundcover of parsley with daffodils dancing above. Other possibilities are crinkled Savoy cabbage and okra in a flower border and the ferny foliage of asparagus planted to show its delicate tracery against a house wall. Consider, too, some chives tucked neatly into nooks and crannies around the garden and a row of sunflowers along a fence. All are beautiful additions to the garden and each contributes something delicious to the family fare.

Another attractive way to combine the pretty and the practical is to alternate long, narrow rows of vegetables with flower beds of complementary shapes and colors. And borders of low growing annuals such as alyssum and dwarf species of many flower varieties will add color and contrast to vegetable beds.

Proper planning, fertilizing, watering, care, and of course, work, go into producing a flourishing flower garden. These same elements also can produce a vegetable garden. But according to another book, one additional factor is needed to insure a crop of good-to-eat vegetables, selecting varieties that are suited to the length of the growing season in your area.

Most seed packets indicate the number of days the plant needs from seeding to maturity. Such information is important to gardeners in warm climates who can grow both early and late varieties, and vital to gardeners in short season areas. For the latter, planting the early varieties is recommended. These will produce crops with less total summer heat than the later maturing varieties.

The book points out that each vegetable has its own range of temperatures for maximum growth and each has its minimum temperature at which it will not grow. So when choosing vegetable varieties to plant, also keep in mind the length of the days in your climate zone, day and night temperatures and the intensity of heat. Suijing plants to your garden's environment will go a long way toward that ultimate triumph — a harvest of succulent vegetables.

How large a plot do you need to grow a vegetable garden? As big or as small a space as you have or wish to plant. In fact, both can be grown in no garden space. Plants and flowers can flourish in containers, and so can vegetables. Large containers filled with fertilized synthetic soil are perfect for growing tomatoes, peppers and eggplants. Most herbs, too, do beautifully in pots making them an ideal choice for city dwellers. And containers, being movable, can be positioned in the sunniest locations, which frequently gives them a decided advantage.

An area of 24 by 30 inches, can be cultivated to amply fill the salad bowl of a family of four during the summer months. And it will produce sufficient parsley and chives that, if frozen, will garnish their dishes throughout the winter as well.

And with a plot 3- by 9-feet, a family of six can be assured of a bountiful harvest of salad greens and root vegetables. Add to this tomatoes, peppers and eggplants grown in containers, and the space is utilized to its fullest potential.

The small space gardener, however, has a difficult task when it comes to planning a garden that will yield a continuous supply of fresh vegetables. When planting, a 30-foot row of lettuce may look short. But when 30 heads of lettuce arrive in the kitchen in a 10-day period, that row becomes very long indeed. To avoid this feast or famine situation, "All About Vegetables" advises small plantings at two or three different times of the same vegetable. That way, the harvest period can be spread over a longer period of time. In areas with long growing seasons, a succession of plantings, from early spring to late fall, will insure a continuous harvest of just-picked vegetables.

Knowing how can be helpful

Growing your own vegetables will save you money, whether you have acres or just a window box. Providing you know what you're doing, and providing you know some tricks of the trade. The Ortho book, "Gardening Shortcuts," gives you endless tips to insure your success with vegetables. And it's only the successful crop that beats inflation.

The book shows you how to use limited space — space that was going to waste because you thought it wasn't good for anything. You find that some small areas are better turned over to raised planters than planted solid with vegetables in the ground. Why? Raised planters are easier to work around. You don't damage plants by having to walk among them. Air circulation is better — less chance of diseases, which make for extra work on your part and cut down yields. Drainage is better, with less risk of root rot and crop loss.

Do you really know what a mulch can do, or not do, to improve vegetable gardening? "Gardening Shortcuts" gives you the pros and cons of both plastic and organic mulches, so you understand the why and what you're doing.

Do you think you're out of space — or just don't have any at all? The book suggests going to the vertical, a method that conserves space and also improves crops. There are various ways of going up in the air; you'll find at least one that suits your particular needs. Cucumbers, some squashes, melons (all great space users) thrive on the vertical. You're adding something you didn't think you could grow.

If you have been disappointed in results from your tomatoes, there's a guide to set you straight — help you profit from mistakes. Tomatoes should be heavy crops. If not, you're not saving all you should.

To get the best results for your time and labor, you should know which varieties to plant. Just planting any tomato or cucumber can result in a dead loss. "Gardening Shortcuts" recommends the more reliable varieties.

For any garden larger than a flower pot or window box, you should have a compost pile. Compost improves the soil at no cost to you because you use the waste you have on hand, and often throw away when you shouldn't. Look on it as a means to more economical gardening, improved soil, and better yields from what you grow in that soil. There's nothing mysterious about composting. The book shows you how simple it is.

Even if you're using every bit of ground you have, you can still do better. Grow succession crops of quick-maturing vegetables such as lettuce and radishes. No reason to let an area lie idle. You can do this even in flower pots or a window box.

Two charts provide invaluable information. One is a vegetable planting guide. The other shows the growing seasons around the country to help you to make the most of your vegetable gardening.

'Chatter' may cost more

Ma Bell seeks new rate hikes for phones

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Enterprise
Roman Staff

It may cost Western Wayne County residents more to talk on the telephone if the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has its way with the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC).

The MPSC has been asked by the Michigan Bell to approve an $88 million rate increase that the firm said "urgently is needed to save jobs and to continue to provide quality telephone service."

The proposed rate increase, if approved by the MPSC, would bring what the company calls "modest increases" in 1-party residence service ranging from 25 cents a month in Detroit to 80 cents a month in the smallest outstate exchanges.

Calls from coin-operated telephones also would go from 10 to 20 cents under the company's proposal.

"All we're asking for in this rate case is the right to earn what is needed to keep people on the payroll and to do our service job," Michigan Bell President David K. Easlick said.

The firm in its petition filed with the MPSC in Lansing stressed that the new rates are not intended to increase its authorized profit level. The company said it has not earned the authorized profit level in several years and that the proposed increase would only raise its earnings closer to what the commission already has set as fair and reasonable.

"Even with the increase, Michigan Bell rates would remain among the lowest in the country," Easlick said.

In the City of Belleville and Van Buren Township, 1-party service would be increased from $5.90 to $6.70 a month. Two-party monthly residence service would go from $5.15 to $5.65, or hikes of 80 cents and 50 cents respectively.

The monthly charge for 1-party measured business service would increase $1.15 from present monthly rates.

In the City of Romulus, 1-party residence service would be increased from $6.55 to $7.20, up 65 cents, and the 2-party monthly residence service would go from $4.90 to $5.40, up 50 cents per month.

The monthly charge for 1-party measured business service in Romulus would remain at $5.80, but the charge for each local message would be seven cents, up from the present six cents each.

There also would be increases in local messages, intrastate long distance and interzone calls, Wide Area Transcommunications Service (WATS), residence extensions and in various business services.

Except for a slight reduction in the usage allowance, there would be no change in the basic $3 monthly rate for Budget Service, designed for customers with limited calling needs, according to the proposed rate increase request.

Easlick said Michigan Bell will ask that approximately $60 million of its total request for $88 million be granted as interim relief while the overall case is in progress. "Most of the interim increase is needed to meet higher payroll and pension costs," he added.

The Michigan Bell president said the company is planning its employment and service levels this year

"on the assumption we'll get prompt action on our request for interim relief."

"Nobody wants to see bills go up," Easlick continued. "But our labor costs are going up again this year, and we need an increase in rates to pay for them and to maintain the quality of our service."

He added that the rate increase would permit the company to sustain its record construction programs, essential to the future expansion of Michigan's economy.

"But any significant cutbacks in our construction programs quickly would be reflected in services and in jobs — not only among our own work force but among the 10,000 jobs our programs now support in other state industries," Easlick said.

Students head for E. Lansing

Four students from Belleville High School have been chosen to go to the Wolverine Boy's State in East Lansing between June 11 and 18.

The students are Scott Beck, Dan Theodore, James Amerman and David Carnahan.

Beck, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beck of 11194 Borgman St., Belleville, and Theodore, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Theodore of 1111 Lori St., Ypsilanti, were chosen to attend the boy's state by the Belleville Kiwanis.

Amerman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Amerman of 12631 Stanley, Belleville, was chosen to attend by the Belleville Rotary Club.

Carnahan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carnahan of 46915 Denton Road, Van Buren Township, was chosen to attend the boys state by the American Legion Post 282 of Ypsilanti.

Huron plans 'Poppy Day'

Today and next Wednesday have been designated "Poppy Day" in Huron Township by the American Legion Auxiliary of American Legion Post 231 of New Boston.

Members of the auxiliary and the post will be stationed throughout Huron Township selling paper replicas of the bright red wildflowers which grow on the fields of France where sons of American families have perished in two great wars, an auxiliary spokesman said.

Contributions obtained through the sale of poppies will be used by the American Legion Auxiliary in the local area for rehabilitation and aid to veterans and their families.

Poppies offered for sale were made at the Battle Creek Veterans Hospital.

"Poppy Day" is the major fund-raising event for American Legion Members and members of the auxiliary.

Besides providing funds to help ailing veterans, legion workers donate time and energy in volunteer work to the Veterans Administration and to help patients at veterans hospitals.

In addition, the legion supervises a large nationwide field service to aid veterans in their homes.

Sign of the times?

Could be.

Because a growing number of doctors are leaving the state and a lot more are not going to be able to practice. The reason: the high cost and even the denial of medical liability insurance.

It's happening now in Michigan. Today, the supply of doctors is threatened. And your help is needed.

Consider. The 510 young doctors who are completing training programs as family physicians or other specialists cannot get insurance today. They will not stay in Michigan to practice unless insurance is made available quickly and at reasonable rates. In addition, you are losing experienced doctors because malpractice insurance rates have jumped from 300 to almost 1000% since January 1.

By the end of the year, if the present situation continues, the medical profession in Michigan—and you, the patient—will have at least 1500 fewer doctors.

Here's how you can help yourself and your doctor.

Right now in the Michigan Legislature there are a variety of so-called "malpractice" insurance bills awaiting action by your lawmakers. Quick approval of them will reduce this physician exodus from the state and provide needed coverage for new doctors.

You can help by filling in the coupon below and mailing it today. Your coupon along with others will be delivered to Governor Milliken and members of the Legislature as evidence of your deep concern and desire for prompt action.

MOTOR POOL—Wayne County General Hospital's "motor pool" now is providing "on grounds" bus service for employees, outpatients and visitors. Approximately every 30 minutes, as close to the hour and half hour as possible, the bus leaves the ramp at the rear of D. Building, located on Michigan Avenue. It makes stops at the main entrance of the Wayne County Health Department, the general hospital, the long-term care facility and N. Building Out-patient clinics, before returning to D. Building. The bus stops are marked at each location. This complimentary service is being provided so the community can utilize more conveniently Wayne County General Hospital's facilities, especially individuals who lack private transportation.

Public officials' forum

Will troubles ease?

By STATE REP.
GARY OWEN
22nd District

The inflation and recession currently plaguing our economy has led to much guess work about when these troubles will ease off. The unemployed, the business community, and government officials all continue to ask for economic predictions.

When auto sales slumped and massive auto worker layoffs began hitting Michigan in late 1974, alarm spread that another Great Depression may be looming before us. By the middle of last January, President Gerald Ford gave up his 5-month effort to cure economic ills by means of voluntary action, and turned to Congress for stronger solutions. By mid-February, chief automakers and labor leaders expressed grave concern about the declining economy.

Amid such economic confusion, Gov. William Milliken offered his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1975. He predicted that the spring of 1975 would see the beginning of a reversal in the downtrend of the economy.

However, he expected only a moderate increase in auto production for the budget year ending July 1, 1976, as compared to the current budget year, and felt we would not return to 1973 auto production levels until fiscal year 1977 or 1978. Within that economic picture, the governor foresees unemployment levels at 11 percent by the end of fiscal year 1975, and a drop to 9 percent by next December.

A national economic view reported by Walter W.

Heller, a University of Minnesota economics professor, proved no more encouraging. He prepared his forecast in cooperation with George Perry of the Brookings Institution. Heller said the actual economic outlook depended upon on how the Federal Reserve Board, the President and Congress reacted to the need for measures to stimulate the economy, such as through a well-structured tax cut

(one has since been enacted). However, Heller and Perry do not expect there will be a marked turn - around of the economy before the second half of 1975.

Maybe it's time you looked into a tax shelter you can live in.

When you buy a home, you get much more than your own roof over your head. You also get a very nice tax shelter. When you own a home, both your property taxes and your mortgage interest are deductible. And that's in addition to the new tax credit of up to $2000 to people who purchase a new home that was unoccupied or under construction as of March 25th.

The potential for profit.

It's often true that you can make money on a house.

In fact, given the economic trend of recent years, almost any well-built home in a good location can be expected to command a higher price when you sell it than it did when you bought it.

That makes a home one of the few things that you can buy, use every day for years, and still have a good chance of selling for more than you paid for it.

Interest rates are down.

Interest rates on home mortgages have been declining recently. This means it's likely to cost you less to finance a home now than it would have even a few months ago. And because there are more homes than buyers right now, you have the added advantage of a buyer's market.

We have the money.

In fact, right now we're making more mortgage loans than any other bank in town.

And not just because we have more money to lend. We also offer you the convenience of being able to apply for your mortgage at any NBD office, and have the closing set up at an NBD office in your neighborhood in as little as two weeks after approval.

We'll answer your questions.

If you'd like to know more about buying a home in today's market, or the cost of a mortgage, any NBD officer at any NBD bank will be happy to help.

If you're considering a new home, why not visit your National Bank of Detroit office? It costs nothing to talk. And you may be pleasantly surprised at just how much house you really can afford.

Making banking better for you.

7-county medical emergency plan readied

Coordination sought among state's hospitals

A comprehensive plan for coordinated emergency medical services throughout Southeast Michigan, including Western Wayne County, is being considered by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan (CHPC-SEM).

Dr. Ronald Krome, director of the Emergency Department of Detroit General Hospital and associate professor of the Wayne State University

School of Medicine, served as chairman of the regional task force which prepared the plan.

According to Dr. Krome, "the 700-page report details guidelines for personnel, facilities, equipment and administrative services necessary to establish and maintain a high-quality, coordinated emergency medical service in this region.

"Our research indicates that nearly 1,000 more lives could be saved each year with a proper, region-wide emergency medical services system," Dr. Krome said. "The considerable advantages of a fast, efficient, emergency medical response would be savings of millions of dollars in lost wages, medical fees and expenses and reduced insurance costs.

"These guidelines were prepared to cover the needs and the problems and to give recommendations to develop the most effective emergency medical program in the nation. The means to achieve a region-wide coordinated emergency medical care system now have been identified. We believe the resources can be made available, and we now have the plan to provide the guidelines for full implementation."

I. Charles Maltese, vice-chairman of the task force said "close coordination with each of the seven counties in the region is essential for the success of the emergency medical services program."

The plan calls for an integrated network of communications, transport and medical services throughout the region to respond to emergencies regardless of their point of origin.

The Emergency Medical Services Task Force was initiated by the CHPC-SEM, a health planning agency federally mandated to plan and coordinate emergency medical services in southeastern Michigan. This includes reviewing and commenting on all federal grants.

According to Mel Ravitz, the origination's president, CHPC-SEM through its Emergency Medical Services Task Force "contracted with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to address the acute problem of accidental and emergency situations which now occur to one of every four persons each year."

"More than 2,000 persons in southeastern Michigan die each year as a result of accidents and half of these involve automobiles," Ravitz said. "Accidents are the leading cause of death among people 38 years or younger. The second major cause of death is coronary heart disease, which accounts for nearly two of every five fatalities."

"Completion of the emergency medical services regional plan opens the way to cementing the effective partnership between public and private sectors of health care in southeastern Michigan. We now know our precise goals and how to achieve them. Our next challenge is to make maximum use of health resources throughout the region to provide one of the most effective responses to emergency health needs in the entire nation," he added.

HE'S A WINNER — Western Wayne County resident, Mark Rupert, a senior at Belleville High Schools, placed first in the Regional and second in the State Competition held by the Michigan Industrial Education Society, at Grand Rapids on April 18. The winning item was a spiral lamp with a heart shaped base which holds a pen. The item was made at the Belleville High machine shop. Mark's teacher was Paul LaForrest.

He completes EMU classes

Belleville resident Jerry Chisnell of 19875 Maxwell, is a member of the second graduating class of the Middle Management Development Program at Eastern Michigan University (EMU).

He is chief engineer for Anchor Coupling Co. Inc. of Plymouth.

The Middle Management Development Program of the College of Business at EMU graduated its second class last month. Seventeen men and two women from 10 southeastern Michigan corporations received certificates from Earl A. Roth, dean of the college of Business, in a brief ceremony.

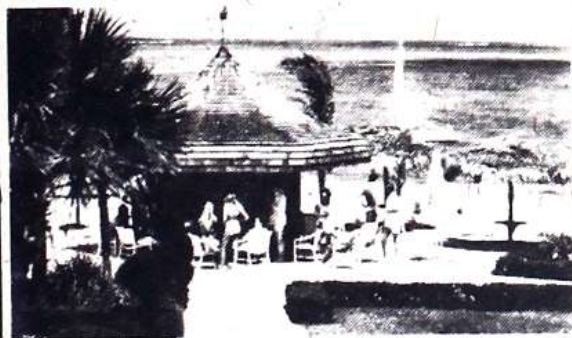

The purpose of the 2 year program, the only one of its kind in Michigan and one of only two or three in the United States, is to prepare employees with supervisory experience or management potential for higher management positions.

Participants attend classes two night a week. Classes are taught by EMU faculty and consultants who all have a minimum of five years experience in business. Seminar discussion focuses on practical applications of theory and solutions to individual situations.

The program is administered by the Bureau of Business Services and Research, Ralph Harris, director.

At Elwell School

Students wrestle to championships

After two months of learning wrestling techniques the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade boys of Elwell Elementary School got their chance to practice what they learned. More than eighty boys participated in the 2-loss type tournament held at the school. Only 15 boys survived the competition as victors over their fellow classmates.

Each February through April, for the past four years, wrestling has been offered as a noon-hour activity for the boys.

Winners in the fourth grade division were:

Jimmy Bentley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Bentley of 19981 Crandell Court and second place Steven Bogle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bogle of 17941 Sumpter.

The heavy-weight champion was Robert Butzin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butzin of 201 Montague; second place, Craig Daroci, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daroci of 45043, Paris Drive, and Mike Barnes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes of 17880 Savage.

Winners in the fifth grade division were:

Light-weight champion Scott Ford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fryer, 17537 Sumpter; second place, Kevin Jones, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jones of 18236 Savage.

Heavy-weight champion Larry Petrowski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petrowski of 19770 Crandell Court; second place, Kevin Kota, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kota, of 18100 Elwell, and Dennis Summers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Summers of 17649 Sumpter.

Winners in the sixth grade division were:
Light-weight champion

Scott Berger, the son of Mr. Mrs. John Berger, of 600 Sumpter, and second place, David Dubisky, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dubisky of 40681 Harris.

Heavy-weight champion Larry Wilson, the son of

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wilson of 41000 Harris, second place, John Kmet, the son of Mrs. Patricia Hairshell of 955 Sumpter, and Al Hammond, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hammond of 492 Sumpter.

West Willow patroller attends Ottawa Rally

Twelve-year-old Jonathon Woods of Belleville will represent the United States at the Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally in Ottawa, Ont. May 22-24, as a guest of Automobile Club of Michigan (AAA).

Jonathon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Woods of 1033 Nash will represent patrollers at West Willow Elementary School, selected by AAA as the best safety patrol in Belleville this year.

He is one of 60 patrollers from 53 Michigan cities invited to the all-expense-paid rally.

The Michigan representatives were selected from more than 60,000 boys and girls protecting fellow classmates at 3,000 schools in the state.

State patrollers will gather in Dearborn on May 21 for registration and a tour of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. The group will be housed in that suburban Detroit community for the night. Delegates will depart by bus for Toronto May 22 with a tour of the famed Ontario Science Center planned for that afternoon.

ANYTHING YOU SAY — As if agreeing with the President these youngsters at the Romulus Head Start Center are observing an anniversary, but in an educational way. President Ford has declared next Wednesday as National Head Start Day. The occasion marks the 10th anniversary of the preschool program which has served nearly 5½ million children. The youngsters enjoying play at the Romulus Head Start program which serves 60 4-year-old children and 20 3-year-olds. Applications for enrollment next fall will be available June 1 at the Romulus Board of Education Office, 36540 Grant.

To serve as consultant

McConeghy tackles job

A long time Wayne County school administrator and superintendent of the Romulus Community School District, Robert L. McConeghy, will join the staff of the Wayne County Intermediate School District early next month.

McConeghy is leaving the superintendency of the Romulus school district after more than 14 years as the chief administrative officer to accept the county-wide post.

The former superintendent will serve as a consultant in general education and in personnel management for the intermediate district, which provides the services of many types of school experts for the local school districts in the county.

The intermediate district, by state law, also is responsible for special education services for the children of Wayne County.

In announcing McConeghy's appointment by the Board of Education of the Intermediate District, Supt. Dr. William Simmons called him an "invaluable" addition to the professional staff.

"The Wayne County Intermediate School District is fortunate in having a man of McConeghy's proven abilities serving on our large staff of educational consultants," Dr. Simmons said. "With his long experience as a teacher and principal as well as a successful career as a superintendent of a local district, he will be able to furnish real expertise in the areas of personnel, curriculum and management to all 36 school districts in Wayne County."

McConeghy also was praised by the president of the Romulus Board of Education, Carl W. Morris, who said: "We'll miss him desperately. He has had the support of the people in Romulus because he has done a yeoman's job for them."

Morris, who also is a member of the Board of Education of the Intermediate District, added that he was pleased that McConeghy still would be working with Wayne County school districts.

"He is No. 2 superintendent in longevity in the county, and has a world of practical experience," he continued.

The Romulus School board has named assistant Supt. James J. Garfield to serve as acting superintendent until a replacement is named. McConeghy will leave Romulus next Friday.

McConeghy has a bachelor of arts degree from Hillsdale College and received his master's degree from Wayne State University in 1951.

His teaching career started in Laingsburg, Mich., where he was a social studies teacher for two years before moving to Sandusky where also taught social studies.

He took four years from his teaching to serve in the U.S. Air Force, returning to Sandusky in 1946. In 1952, McConeghy went to the Romulus school district as the principal of Hayti Elementary School where he served for six years.

He resigned his teaching position in June of 1960 to become a field representative for the Michigan Education Association, but six months later returned to Romulus as superintendent. He officially resigned the superintendency on March 24.

McConeghy and his wife, Barbara, have four sons.

Dagenais pulls duty at aviation school

Navy Seaman Recruit Brian Dagenais, 21, soon will be stationed in Memphis, Tenn., to undergo 20 weeks of aviation ordnance training before assuming a permanent job with the United States Navy.

Seaman Dagenais, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dagenais of 39257 Judd Road, Huron Township, is home on leave until tomorrow after completing his basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois late last month.

Training in the repair of warheads, gunights and guns used on Navy jets will be combined with nine weeks of basic training received by Seaman Dagenais during his stay at Great Lakes.

Seaman Dagenais attended Huron High School prior to entering the Navy in mid-February.

Navyman Ronald W. Campbell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Grimes of 23630 Bohn Road, Belleville, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Classes include instruction in seamanship, military regulations, firefighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

Marine Lance Cpl. Tony L. Lipford, the son of Mrs. Ruth Lipford of 6420 Denton Road, Belleville, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S.C.

T. Sgt. Ira E. Cicotte, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cicotte Sr. of 27114 Milan St., New Boston, has graduated from the Tactical Air Command Non-commissioned Officer Academy at Langley Air Force Base, Va.

Sgt. Cicotte received the Brude Ball Academic Achievement Award for scholastic achievement.

The sergeant, who received advanced military leadership and management training, is an avionics systems technician at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho.

Sgt. Cicotte is a 1962 graduate of Huron High School.

Candy sale 'great'

The Romulus North Little League candy sale has been termed a success by organizers of the event.

The boys raised enough profits to provide funds for the purchase of uniforms, equipment and trophies, putting the league in a good financial shape, they added.

UP IN THE AIR — Hitting the dirt is Belleville's Jeff Hoeman who checked into second after getting aboard on a single. The action came against Livonia Bentley earlier in the season and provided the Tigers with a 3-2 victory. However, Coach Vitold Kaminski's Tigers couldn't get a hold of the ball Friday at Plymouth as Salem rocked them 10-0 in a Suburban 8 Conference game. Belleville will begin the second round of league competition tomorrow at Allen Park. — Photo by Enterprise-Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Game ends 10-0

Belleville loses to Salem

It just wasn't Walt Easley's or Belleville High's day Friday. The All-Area cager turned pitcher was routed by Plymouth Salem in the first, inning as Salem blanked the Tigers 10-0 in a Suburban 8 Conference baseball game.

Plymouth scored seven of its runs in the opening inning then went on to add the frosting to the cake with three more in the third.

Tom Willette, who pitched the first five innings, allowed one hit, struck out 12 and walked one was the winning pitcher. The senior southpaw, considered one of the finest hurlers in the state this season, left the game in the fifth for reliever Chuck Thomas. Plymouth launched its attack upon Easley with a leadoff single by Dave Pierce, then Pierce stole second. Easley hit Brian Wolcott with a wild pitch and got Pierce when Tim Dillon stroked a fielder's choice.

However, Dan Moore belted a 2-run triple and Doug Tripp smacked a single, scoring Moore; while Howard Inch also hammered a triple, scoring two more runs.

That was all for Easley as Belleville Coach Vitold Kaminski called upon Paul Vos. Vos walked Charlie Johnson and a wild pitch scored the next run. Earlier in the week Belleville picked up its second conference victory at the expense of Trenton. Dan Mattson scattered four hits en route to a 3-1 victory over the Trojans.

Mattson struck out 10 and walked none. He got himself in a jam in the first inning when he allowed Trenton to load the bases, but managed to pitch himself out of trouble.

"He did an excellent job for us," said Kaminski's whose team carried a 2-4 league record into the game against Plymouth

Salem. "We needed this victory."

Rich Ivan led off the first inning with a single and was chased home when Dan Dapsi hammered his second home run of the season.

Belleville got an insurance run in the fourth when Jeff Hoeman singled and scored on Kevin Banes' hit-and-run double.

Along with his homer, Dapsi also connected for a 2-out triple in the fourth. Romulus' bid to avenge an earlier loss to Belleville fell short 3-2 as Hoeman checked the Eagles on a three hitter.

Hoeman went all the way, striking out seven and walking four to chalk up his second win of the campaign. Bob Griffin, tagged for eight hits, was charged with the defeat. He notched three strikeouts and walked one.

Mike Stanley's pinpoint throw from the outfield that cut down the potential tying run saved Belleville in this one.

Romulus loses twice

The breaks definitely aren't going Romulus' way on the diamond.

After losing to Belleville 3-2 last Wednesday, Coach Dennis Stoh's Eagles dropped another 1-run ball game on Friday to a visiting Dearborn Heights Annapolis ball club by the identical score.

"We played well and Rick (Britz) pitched good enough to win," Stoh said. "But an error here and a mistake there proved too much."

The fatal error came in the 10th when Annapolis' Jim Bowman singled, moved to second on a wild pitch which forced Stoh to remove reliever Johnny Myers in favor of Bob Griffin.

Griffin got Don Barnhouse to ground out with Bowman stopping at third. However, Plas Fernandez smacked a grounder to short which was booted, allowing what proved to be the winning run to score.

Romulus got on the scoreboard in the first inning as Jay Barton walked and moved to second on Britz' single. Jerry Goodman's base hit drove in the run.

But Annapolis tied it up in the second, then went ahead in the fifth as Britz, Romulus' starting pitcher, and Gene Masteroni settled down to a pitchers' duel.

Romulus tied the game in the sixth when Chuck McBride singled, moved to second on a stolen base, then reached third when Masteroni unleashed a wild pitch. He scored on an error.

"We just couldn't get the key hit in this one," said Stoh whose team carried a 7-5 over-all record into this week's action.

The Eagles also have a couple of "toughies" on the schedule, meeting Tom Nolan's Lincoln Park contingent today, then traveling to Ypsilanti tomorrow.

Romulus netmen face Woodhaven

Licking its wounds after suffering from a 7-0 shutout at the hands of River Rouge's undefeated netters, Romulus will have a chance to find a cure for its ills today when the Eagles host Woodhaven.

"We have had our share of problems," said Tom Baldwin, Romulus' sophomore tennis coach. "We're trying too hard, I believe, to win."

"And the pressure is mounting up into errors," Ray Ebersberger's performance probably exemplifies the team's over-all effort. Ebersberger, an All-Area tennis player for the past two years, is pressing too hard and trying to "kill" the ball, according to the Romulus coach.

3 athletes join play

Belleville has an entry in the Ypsilanti National Slo-pitch League. It's Village Sound Hi-Fi Shop located at 201 South St.

The Village squad will be made up of all ex-Belleville High School athletes. Davis Billings, a 1972 grad, is the coach and manager.

"I feel we can field a strong team," Billings said. "We could field a strong offensive and experienced club that will be contenders."

Leading the team on the field will be the coach's brother, Steve, and Terry Pate, a slugging third baseman. Both Billings and Pate are ex-Belleville High ball players.

Village Sound will open its season May 13 against Windgate Apartments. The game is scheduled for 10:30 p.m. on the Harris Road diamond in Ypsilanti.

Eagles present Wilkerson with first victory

The inevitable happened at Romulus High School. Coach Al Wilkerson's young and green trackmen, who had wood but were rejected from victory several times, finally presented their rookie coach with his first win last week.

Romulus jolted Woodhaven 87-36 and that was the first time in more than two years that the Eagles had won a dual track meet.

"I am very pleased," said Wilkerson, who is rebuilding a track program that had only four athletes in it last year. "We have an excellent crop of freshmen and sophomores and, as I have said on numerous other occasions, this team is a team of the future." That may be, but it didn't look like it against Woodhaven. Romulus proved to its nonleague rivals that it has power. Romulus swept 13 out of a possible 15 first places. Donald Robinson and Larry Courtney provided the winners with two events each.

Huron High to host regional track meet

New Boston Huron has been designated as the host school for the Class B girls state regional track meet which will be held on May 16.

Huron will entertain the following schools: airport, Detroit Immaculata, Detroit Holy Redeemer, Detroit St. Mary's, Carlson, Grosse Ile, Bishop Gallagher, Harper Woods, Regina and Livonia Ladywood.

Also scheduled to compete at Huron are Monroe Jefferson, Monroe St. Mary's, Riverview, Saline, Southgate Aquinas, Southgate Schafer and Ypsilanti Willow Run.

Preliminaries in the field events will begin at 4:30 p.m. and the finals will start immediately after the conclusion of the prelims. Preliminaries in the running events will begin at 4:30 p.m.

RAC discusses season

The Romulus Athletic Club (RAC) will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Romulus Library to discuss the Little League football season.

After the meeting, those members of the Little League organization who sold candy to earn jackets will receive them.

The RAC has appointed Wally Brown as its unit director. Brown's responsibilities will include the coordination of the Flyers' three football teams in the Western Football League. Brown is a graduate of Romulus High.

Boys' ball future depends on play

There's more than meets the eye at stake in the Tigers' exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds at 7 p.m. May 29.

The financial future of boys baseball in the Michigan-Ohio - Ontario area is a vital factor in the annual Sandlot Benefit.

Last spring, more than $82,000 was raised at the Tigers-Reds clash, with 183 amateur leagues and teams from 71 different cities sharing the gate receipts.

Billy Burton, general manager of the event both this year and last, has set a goal of $100,000 for the upcoming contest. If that is reached, it will mean nearly $500,000 raised for boys baseball since the current Sandlot Benefit series began in 1964.

The big haul is made possible because both the Tigers and the Reds pay their own expenses.

One of the biggest beneficiaries of the Sandlot Benefit last spring was the program at Flint which in 1974 enrolled more than 6,500 young players.

More than 50,000 tickets now are being sold by amateur teams and leagues, which will retain all of the money they take in.

Teams interested in participating can get information from the Michigan Recreation and Park Association in Lansing. The telephone number there is (517) 393-9470.

Teams also may call their local parks and recreation departments for more information.

During May

Hospital offers free health clinic

Special things are in store for Western Wayne County residents who visit Wayne County General Hospital in Westland during the month of May. On May 17, between 1 and 4 p.m., a free health clinic will be held in the hospital's Outpatient Department.

The clinic located on Merriman Road, one block north of Michigan Avenue, will be open to all citizens wishing the services.

The clinic will be testing blood pressure as part of its observance of National Hypertension month. High Blood Pressure often is referred to as "the silent killer" with many individuals being unaware they are victims of this condition. Early diagnosis and treatment can prevent many of the serious side effects of this condition.

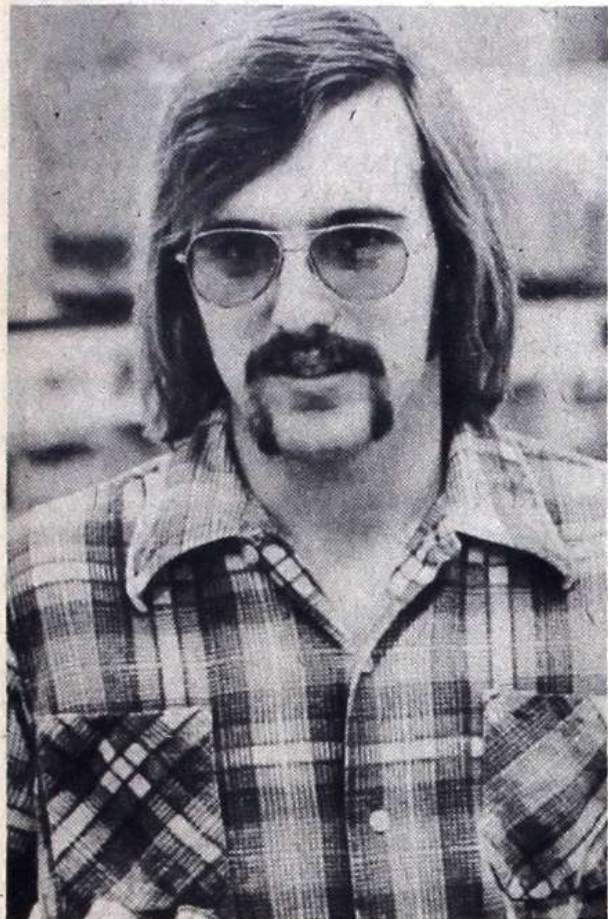

Very important to children — one thru five years of age — who may have been exposed unknowingly to lead-based paint is the lead poisoning screening. Because young children tend to indiscriminately chew on painted objects, the possibility of lead poisoning exists, especially in houses built before 1950.

It also is vital to the health of the community and all parents are urged to bring their children's immunizations up to date. Wayne County General Hospital and Health Department urges all residents to take advantage of the free clinic. A photo display depicting various hospital departments will be in the lobby of the hospital during next week.

NOTICE TO SUMPTER TOWNSHIP WATER CUSTOMERS

THE WATER MAINS IN SUMPTER TOWNSHIP WILL BE SHUT OFF PERIODICALLY FROM 8:00 P.M., THROUGH 3:00 A.M., STARTING ON MAY 1, 1975, THROUGH MAY 31, 1975. THIS IS TO TEST THE WHOLE TOWNSHIP WATER MAINS FOR POSSIBLE LEAKS WE HAVE LOCATED THROUGHOUT THE TOWNSHIP.

PLEASE TRY TO STORE UP ALL THE WATER NECESSARY FOR USE, DURING THESE TESTING HOURS. IT IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE THAT THIS WORK BE COMPLETED, DUE TO THE HIGH RATE OF WATER WE ARE LOSING EVERY MONTH, IN WHICH WE STILL HAVE TO PAY FOR.

THE LONGEST THAT THE WATER WILL BE SHUT OFF IS ABOUT ONE HALF (1/2) HOUR AT A TIME, THEN IT WILL BE TURNED BACK ON AND TURNED OFF AGAIN FOR ABOUT THE SAME TIME AS BEFORE.

PLEASE BEAR WITH US DURING THIS TESTING TIME, AND TRY NOT TO CALL THE FIRE OR WATER DEPARTMENTS UNLESS IT IS VERY NECESSARY OR AN EMERGENCY. THANK YOU.

For Belleville-Canton

Plans progress on trade fair

Plans are well-underway for the Belleville-Canton Chamber of Commerce Spring Trade Fair to be held next week at the Wayne County Fairgrounds in Belleville. Businesses and industry throughout Western Wayne County have been invited to participate, and more than 150 exhibitors will be displaying and/or selling their products. Among the business and industrial exhibits will be new cars, gas grills, insurance and real estate, musical instruments, steel forgings, unfinished furniture, plastics, packaging equipment, banks, encyclopedias, wallpaper and paint, horticultural supplies, construction equipment, outdoor furniture and nursery stock. In addition to indoor plants for sale, bedding plants, flowers and produce will be sold by area farmers and greenhouses in time for mid-May planting. Arts and crafts displays by local artists will include oil paintings, glass-blown items, pottery, ceramics, macrame, metal sculpture, wood carvings, tableau art, silver and jade jewelry and china painting. Entertainment has been scheduled daily for the arena area of the fairgrounds. The Crossmen, a country-gospel group, will perform at 7 p.m. May 16. A Saturday matinee and evening performance will be presented by Joe Prater and the Huron Valley Boys, a Michigan award-winning country-western group. On May 18 a Speed and Action Horse Show will begin at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the day. It is sponsored by the Mustangs 4-H Club of Belleville and will feature keg-bending, relay races, rescue races, the Calcutta, cloverleaf and others.

A featured attraction of the fair will be an antique modified car display by the Ypsilanti-Area Street Rods Club. These cars date from a 1923 Model-T Ford to a 1955 Chevrolet with custom interiors, custom paint and modified engines. The display will include pickups, touring cars and coupes, many of which have been shown at Greenfield Village and Cobo Hall. The Spring Trade Fair is sponsored by the Canton and Belleville Area Chambers of Commerce and is the first event of its kind in Western Wayne County. Persons wishing booth rental information may contact either chamber office at 453-4040 or 697-7151.

Tickets for the scheduled entertainment may be purchased at either chamber offices.

NEW MASONS—Several Belleville residents were among a class of 300 Master Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties to receive Scottish Rite Freemasonry's 32nd degree at the conclusion of a reunion at the Masonic Temple. In the class were George E. Fooks of 8701

For marching, jazz units

South Junior High band posts busy month

Belleville South Junior High School again has begun its Marching Band Program this year.

The band, bigger and better than ever this year, has a total of 125 members in the march unit, including 12 fluffs, two flag carriers and eight alternates, a school spokesman said.

The fluffs form the first, second and third ranks of the marching band and add color and style to the group by doing routines with their pom poms. They made their own marching uniforms, again this year, from a pattern designed by fluff captain Lori Butler.

The two flag carriers are Sandi Sienko and Beth Brinkerhoff, who carry the traditional South banner in front of the band.

The band itself is led by drum major Barry White. The group recently purchased 130 marching shirts, with the help of the art Department, paying only $1.50 for each marching shirt, since they were designed and painted by the Art Department.

Designed on a silk screening system to produce the shirts at a very low cost, the marching shirts are dark blue with white letters with a marching tiger in the middle. Blue and white are South Junior High School's colors.

Another art teacher also donated time and effort to helping the band. Painting a tiger design on the heads of the bass drums.

The marching uniform consists of blue and white shirts, white pants, white shoes and socks. The drum major will wear a white shirt trimmed in blue with blue pants and white shoes. The marching band will perform numerous functions now through June. John Forsyth, assistant principal, and Bill Houston, science teacher, have organized an elementary school tour for the marching and jazz bands. They will be on tour four days in May, performing at an Art Fair at South tomorrow.

Also performing at the fair, along with the bands, will be the choir under the direction of Earnest Robinson. The Music Department also is planning a traditional Spring Assembly in May which will be presented to the entire student body.

On May 30, the band is planning a trip to Cedar Point, where it will perform 10 marching songs for the public. As guest of Cedar Point, the band members will receive free admission and rides the entire day.

On May 31, all four bands at South will perform at the annual Picnic Pops Concert which will be held at the high school football field from 1 to 6 p.m., while on June 3, South Junior High School bands will perform at their annual Spring Concert at the High School Auditorium. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

The marching band also is planning to participate in the bicentennial in 1976.

Bike-a-thon to aid retarded

The bike-a-thon for the retarded, a support activity to help raise funds for the June 7-8 Third Annual Telethon for the Retarded which will be co-hosted by Soupy Sales, Supercop

Daye Toma and Michigan's own Miss America — Pam Eldred — has been scheduled to start at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Belle Isle Casino.

It is being sponsored by the Detroit Jaycees, Alhambra of Michigan, a fraternal order of Catholic men dedicated to aiding the retarded, and the Southeast Michigan Bicycle Dealers Association (SMBDA).

Anyone may obtain a pledge sheet at any of the 71 Detroit-Area Wrigley Supermarkets or at their local bicycle dealer.

The volunteer will solicit sponsors who pledge to contribute to the bike-a-thon a specified amount for every mile up to a total of 30 miles that the volunteer completes in the ride.

The volunteer bicycle rider will register all pledges at the Belle Isle Casino, the starting point of the bike-a-thon, and complete as many of the 30 miles as possible.

ROMULUS MASONS — A class of 300 Master Masons, including two Romulus men, from 11 southeastern Michigan counties received Scottish Rite Freemasonry's 32nd degree on April 26 at the conclusion of a 2-weekend reunion at the Masonic Temple. The class was named in honor of President Gerald R. Ford, a 33rd degree Mason and the 14th member of the Masonic Fraternity to serve as President of the United States. Romulus residents in the class were William R. Toner (left) of 14825 Huron River Drive, and Homer W. Bidwell of 28660 Beverly.

Cathey becomes part of Militia, Alhambra

The Knights of the Immaculate is honoring prominent Romulus resident, Sir Knight Kenneth A. Cathey, PFN and past charter grand knight of Father Maximilian Kolbe Council 6549 of the Knights of Columbus of Belleville, as a third-degree knight in the Militia of the Knights of the Immaculate.

Cathey is being honored because he developed and founded a new council of the Knights of Columbus and named it after the founder of the Militia of the Knights of the Immaculate, Fr. Kolbe.

Cathey also is being honored for his demonstrated abilities of administration, leadership, organization and management of and within the Catholic organizations — fraternal and otherwise — that he has been affiliated with.

The honor includes qualities of character — ethics, honesty, integrity, morals, principles and virtues — as demonstrated within those organizations.

The Fraternal Order of the Alhambra announced they held their Reception Ceremonials for the Neophytes in which Cathey took part.

The sponsors of the newly-initiated Cathey said they selected and recruited him for membership in the Alhambra because of his abilities of administration and leadership qualities of character, which they believe merited his membership in the Alhambra, a group spokesman said.

The sponsors added that there are future plans for the possible formation of a Caravan of the Alhambra, within the Belleville-New Boston-Romulus area.

CALCULATING CALVIN'S CORNER.

Hitting the road with Calvin. I think you all know that Triple-A's Emergency Road Service alone can save you enough to pay for the cost of your membership. (If you've ever had to call the friendly neighborhood gas station for a start, you know just how unfriendly the bill can be.) But did you know that Triple-A has 580 garages and service stations under contract in Michigan, with 151 emergency stations on a standby basis? Last year our Emergency Road Service trucks made 1,049,339 calls. That's a lotta help for a lotta people.

We know where you're going. And there's really no telling how much gasoline Triple-A has helped people save with their maps and Triptiks. They routed 758,282 members last year, made 41,611 reservations and sold 939,784 auto licenses. How's that for saving members money and grief?!!

The magic number. Triple-A's Travel Information Center (TIC) operates 18 hours a day, six days a week. It'll do just about everything except burp the baby. Call a single toll free number that's on your membership card and get tour information, weather and road condition reports, order a routing, make a hotel or motel reservation at a guaranteed rate, get information on mushrooms, fishing, camping or anything that's seasonal. You can call from anywhere in the state or right from home. In only nine months TIC has made 13,980 routings, 13,113 motel reservations and handled 122,843 requests for information.

Buy a new car. Triple-A MemberLoan financing rates have been reduced dramatically, so buy a new car, used car, recreation vehicle or boat and help yourself and Michigan's economy. Triple-A arranged 14,462 MemberLoans last year, and with their lower rate they expect to double that in 1975 and really save members a lot of money!

Calculating Calvin saying adios for now. Join Triple-A and save money and grief.

Merriman cubs hold pack meet

Cub Scout Pack 739 held its recent meeting at Merriman Elementary School, opening with a skit by Den 2 on the flag, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

Awards went to Eddie Holbrook, one gold and two silver arrows; Dave Kovach and Richard Sikorski, dinner cords; Keith Summerville and Mike Metevia, assistant dinner; Jeff Lozier, wolf and dinner cord; Jeff Hamm, bobcat; Todd Gibbs, 1-year service star and Ronnie Kovach, Webelos, bear, one gold and three silver arrows.

Robert Koepf, assistant dinner, wolf, one gold and one silver arrow; Frank Riopelle, aquanaut, artist, athlete, outdoorsman and 2-year service star; Mark Hale, aquanaut; Bobby Bales, artist, engineer, scholar and showman; Bill Herring, assistant dinner, aquanaut and athlete; Todd Gibbs, dinner, aquanaut, artist, athlete and citizen, and Mike Coatsworth, Arrow of Light, engineer and scientist.

Matt Percy, athlete and outdoorsman; Jim Hamm, outdoorsman and Sportsman; Ken Poma, naturalist, outdoorsman and scientist; Mike Innes, Bobcat and athlete, Billy Cribbs, athlete, and John Stockman, artist and craftsman.

Following the awards a skit was performed by Den 3.

There was a special treat for the cubs when Max Nelson and the Order of the Arrow demonstrated several Indian dances. Snake, Soo Soldier, Corn Grinder and Tomahawk were some of their specialties. Some members from the Explorers Post 1351 were included in the dancing. All costumes were handmade by the boys.

Jeff Hamm also won the cake from the raffle.

On April 15 approximately 90 scouts and their families and friends attended the Mayflower Roller Rink, located at 15064 Middle Belt Road.

Anthony cubs sing at meet

The Cub Scouts and parents of Pack 793 of St. Anthony's Church, of Belleville have learned their respective talents during a "sing-a-long" at a recent pack meeting.

After enjoying the entertainment during the April meeting, the scouts received awards.

James Budd earned a gold and silver arrow, under his Wolf Badge, while Herbie Herge earned a recruiter badge and Eric Stimach earned a gold arrow, under a Wolf Badge.

Ken Duda earned a naturalist and artist badge, Tom Linderman, forester badge and Larry Fleeman, citizen badge.

Dale Renton earned his athlete badge and Mike Winnie, naturalist badges.

Dinner and assistant dinner cords were awarded to Eric Stimach, Norman Farrell, John Moser and Gary Bergeson.

Paul Innes, Larry Fleeman and Tom Linderman earned the Arrow of Light award.

In addition to earning new ranks, Cub Scouts in the pack won either neckerchief slides or patches for selling tickets to the Scout-o-rama.

Earning a patch for selling 12 tickets or more were James Budd, James Brasington, David Cotham, Herbie Herge, James Jaszcz, Grant Memering, Jimmy MonForton, Andy Winnie, Ken Duda and Kari Duda.

Earning a neckerchief slide for selling at least six tickets were Gary Bergeson, James Budd, James Brasington, David Cotham, Bruce Damer, Larry Hay, Herbie Herge, James Jaszcz, Tom Linderman, Jimmie MonForton, Mark Obeginski, Grant Memering, Dennis Stemper, Scott Wilsey, Andy Winnie, Ken Duda and Kari Duda.

Cubs bake cakes

Cub Scouts and their fathers of Pack 1071 of the First United Methodist Church in Belleville have completed their "taste test" in the annual Father-Son Cake Bake.

First place honors for baking a good pastry went to Cub Don Roullier and his father, Cub P.J. Maschek and his father took second place honors and Cub Robert Ibach and his father took a third-place trophy.

Cub Rick Noble took first place honors in the decoration portion of the contest while Mike and Eddie Fletcher and their father took second place and Danny Posegay and his father, third place.

Cakes baked in the contest were auctioned off following the judging.

Rick Noble earned his Bobcat Badge while Michael Fletcher earned a Wolf badge and a gold arrow.

Jeff Marsh earned a Bear Badge and a gold arrow while K. Maschek earned a 1-year service star.

Roger Ibach earned a Webelos award and an artist pin.
